

The newly launched ISO30401 Knowledge Management Standard

Meet Ron to learn about its development on 24th January 2019

In today's rapidly changing global markets, success is no longer tied to the traditional inputs of labor, capital or land. The new critical resource is inside the heads of employees—

KNOWLEDGE:

What an institution knows, and how it leverages that knowledge has never been more critical to success.

Mr. Ron Young is the founder of Knowledge Associates International, a knowledge management consulting and solutions group based out of St Johns Innovation Centre, Cambridge, U.K. He is a leading international expert and thought leader in strategic knowledge asset management and innovation. For several years, he has chaired both the British Standards Institute (BSI) Knowledge Management Standards Committee and the European Knowledge Management Standards Committee.
